

PREPARED FOR KAL

A website that presents the collection and delivers every enquiry directly to you.

This document sets out the scope of the proposed website: how it will operate, how orders will reach you, the faults identified in the site currently in use, and the materials required from you before development begins.

Scope of the website.

The website will present the work of Lustre By Kal and provide three routes of contact. The visitor selects the route that suits them, and the site directs them accordingly.

Email The visitor completes a short form. The enquiry is delivered to your inbox, and an automatic acknowledgement is sent to the visitor confirming that it has been received.	WhatsApp A single tap opens WhatsApp with the message already composed, including the details of the item the visitor was viewing.	Booked consultation For visitors who wish to discuss their requirements before ordering. The visitor selects a time from the availability you set, and both parties receive a confirmation.

The website must serve two distinct buyers.

Lustre By Kal serves two categories of customer. Their requirements differ, as does the time each takes to reach a decision. The website will separate them at the point of entry and direct each to the appropriate route.

The individual buyer

- Decides quickly, frequently within minutes
- Often purchasing at short notice
- Requires the contents and the price of each box before ordering
- Purchasing for a fixed date, so delivery timing is the deciding factor
- Almost always browsing on a mobile phone

APPROPRIATE ROUTE

WhatsApp or the order form. Both allow the order to be placed without correspondence.

The corporate buyer

- Decides over a period of several weeks
- Purchasing against a planned budget that requires internal approval
- Requires pricing for the order as a whole rather than per box
- May require branding applied to the boxes
- Requires delivery to multiple addresses and a formal invoice

APPROPRIATE ROUTE

Email or a booked consultation. Orders of this size require discussion and a written quotation.

Two approaches are available.

Both approaches will serve the business. They differ in scale, in build cost, and in the amount of ongoing maintenance each requires. Our recommendation follows the comparison.

RECOMMENDED

The website

All functions are carried by the website itself. It handles ordering, enquiries and follow-up without a separate system operating behind it.

- Customers browse and order without registering an account
- Orders are delivered to you by email or WhatsApp, itemised in full
- An administration page for retrieving any order by its reference
- Can be added to the home screen of a phone
- Lower build cost, with minimal running costs
- Can be extended to the larger system at a later stage

THE LARGER OPTION

A full web application

A complete system holding a record for every customer, with full administrative control over its operation.

- Customers register and log in to individual accounts
- Order tracking for each customer
- Logistics tracking
- Notifications and status updates
- Full administrative access to the entire system
- Higher build cost and ongoing monthly maintenance

RECOMMENDATION

We recommend beginning with the website. The build cost is substantially lower, the site can be launched sooner, and it will accommodate the business at its current trading volume. The larger system should be considered when order volume requires it. The work carried out now will remain in place should you proceed to that stage.

How ordering will operate.

The ordering system will be built into the website directly. No third-party shopping platform is involved and there is no monthly licence fee.

- 1 Every item on the site carries a unique reference
Each box, size and option is assigned a reference at the point it is added to the site.

- 2 The customer adds items to the cart
Multiple boxes may be added, with a quantity set against each.

- 3 The customer selects how the order is sent
Either email or WhatsApp, according to the customer's preference.

- 4 The order reaches you itemised in full
It contains the item names, their references, the quantities, the customer's contact details and any instructions given.

- 5 Larger orders are identified from the order itself
The quantity and composition indicate that the order requires direct follow-up by your team.

- 6 You confirm the order and issue your invoice by email
Payment is made to you directly. No payment is processed through the website.

PART 5

The administration page.

You will have a private page on the site, accessible only to you. Its function is the retrieval of orders.

Entering an order reference displays the complete order: each item, its reference, the quantities ordered, and the contact details supplied by the customer.

The page is provided for retrieving orders only. It is not an editor for the website. Amendments to site content, prices and photographs are carried out by us.

Faults identified in the current website.

We have reviewed the site currently in use. The following items require correction.

The enquiry form does not transmit

When the form is submitted, a confirmation message is displayed to the visitor, but the enquiry is not sent or recorded anywhere. Enquiries submitted through the site to date have not been received. This will be corrected as the first item of work. Every submission will be delivered to your inbox, and the sender will receive an automatic acknowledgement.

Mistyped contact details cannot be recovered

A single incorrect character in an email address or telephone number makes an enquiry impossible to answer, and the enquiry is lost without either party being aware of it. The email and telephone fields will check the entry as it is typed and indicate clearly whether the format is correct before the form can be submitted.

The published contact details are placeholders

The telephone number currently shown on the site is a placeholder, and the same number is linked to the WhatsApp button. The Instagram, Facebook and TikTok links do not resolve to any page. Your actual details are required to correct this.

The site is difficult to use for some visitors

The form fields carry no labels, so the description of each field disappears once the visitor begins typing. Several passages of text do not contrast sufficiently with their background to be read comfortably. Visitors navigating by keyboard cannot determine their position on the page. These faults will be corrected, which will also improve how the site is indexed by search engines.

Shared links display no preview

When the site address is shared on WhatsApp or a similar application, no image or title is displayed and the link appears as a blank panel. This will be configured so that the link carries your branding whenever it is forwarded.

PART 7

Mobile use and installation.

The majority of visitors will use a mobile phone. The site will therefore be designed for mobile screens first and adapted for larger screens thereafter.

The site will be built as a Progressive Web App. This allows a visitor to add the site to the home screen of their phone from within their browser. Once added, it opens in its own window carrying your icon, without the browser address bar visible.

WHAT THIS IS, AND WHAT IT IS NOT

This is a website configured for installation, not a mobile application. It is not published on the Apple App Store or the Google Play Store and cannot be downloaded from either. Installation is carried out by the visitor from within the browser: on Android devices this is normally offered as a prompt, while on iPhone the visitor must select Share, then Add to Home Screen. Pages already visited may load without a connection, but placing an order requires an active internet connection.

PART 8

Delivery information published on the site.

Timing is the question most frequently raised before purchase. The site will state the following consistently wherever delivery is mentioned:

DELIVERY

We deliver nationwide. Delivery takes a minimum of two days and a maximum of five days. Your location may affect this time.

Order of work.

The work is divided into four stages. Each stage depends upon the one preceding it.

Correction and connection

- Configure the enquiry form to transmit and record every submission
 - Configure automatic acknowledgements for all enquiries received
 - Install your telephone number, email address and social media links
 - Configure the WhatsApp button with a pre-composed message
 - Add format checking to the email and telephone fields
 - Correct the readability and usability faults set out in Part 6
 - Configure the link preview for shared addresses

Identity and content

- Your logo, either supplied by you or designed by us
 - Colours, typefaces and the overall visual treatment
 - Photography of the boxes, produced by us or prepared from your files
 - Every box entered onto the site with its contents and its price

The ordering system

- Assign a reference to every box, item and option
 - Build the cart and the checkout
 - Configure delivery of completed orders to email and WhatsApp
 - Build the consultation booking page
 - Build the administration page for retrieving orders

Completion and launch

- Configure the site for installation to the home screen
 - Test performance and behaviour across mobile devices
 - Final check that the site is usable for all visitors
 - Connect the domain and the email addresses
 - Test each order route from end to end prior to launch

PART 10

Materials required from you.

Development cannot proceed without the following. The first two items are the most urgent.

01 Every box currently available

A complete list rather than a selection. For each box we require the contents, the sizes offered, and any options available to the customer.

02 The price of each box

A price for every box and every size offered. The ordering system cannot function without them, and the customer cannot place an order.

03 Photographs of the boxes

Any images you currently hold. Should these prove unsuitable for the site, we will advise you and arrange a photography session.

04 Your logo

If a logo already exists, we require the original artwork file. If none exists, we will design one for you.

05 Contact details and social media handles

The telephone number your team answers, the WhatsApp number, and the handles for your Instagram, Facebook and TikTok accounts. Please supply the handle for each account rather than a link, so that we can verify the correct page before publishing it.

06 Approval of the domain and email addresses

lustrebykal.com is available for registration, together with admin@lustrebykal.com and finance@lustrebykal.com. Your confirmation is required before we register them.

A NOTE ON CONTENT

The quality of the finished website is determined by the volume of content supplied. A site carrying four boxes will remain a small site. A site carrying your full range, with photography and a price for each, becomes a catalogue from which a customer can order. We ask that you supply everything currently available to you.
